MAGICAL FARAWAY TREE HOUSE

The ultimate bushveld experience awaits at the More Collection's Lion Sands Private Game Reserve, 490km northeast of Johannesburg. The secluded Chalkley Tree House sleeps two and is exclusively available to guests of Lion Sands River and Ivory lodges to pay a supplementary charge for an unforgettable night under the stars: you'll be driven there at sunset and then left with a picnic and wine to enjoy a front-row view of the reserve's wildlife.

Lovers of comfort rest assured: this is not a roughing-it experience. Built against an ancient leadwood tree, the tree house is the epitome of the bushveld gone five star: halfway up the stairs there's a chemical flush toilet, there are lanterns everywhere to light your way and, once you reach the top, a luxurious four-poster bed protected by a mosquito net – the only thing between you and the night sky – greets you. Equipped with basin, mirror, hot-water bottle, dressing gowns and everything you'll possibly need, as far as we are concerned, this is the ultimate grown-up tree house.
